We're looking ahead to another fantastic week of supporting Canadian small business and introducing new friends to FS Local. If you're a dog-lover in Airdrie Alberta, you probably already know about our first new business. Likewise, if you're a Haligonian into coffee, no doubt you've sipped black gold with our second new friend. And wherever you are, get to Toronto next month to see our old friend Malinda open her first solo art show. It promises to be amazing. #SUPPORTLOCAL

Up and coming Toronto artist Malinda Prud'homme will be showing her incredible portraits and pictures at the Ben Naveee Gallery on Queen St. West from January 30th through February 12th. Malinda is a friend of ours, having done the 20 Questions back in 2013 and this is her first solo exhibition, so if you want to be able to say 'I saw her when...'this is your chance. We're hoping to feature more of Malinda's work and a longer interview in the coming weeks, so keep an eye out for that!

Jesse is a typical class clown. Born and raised just north of the Toronto, he fell in love with the City on school trips to the ROM and the Science Centre. He tried Vancouver for a few years, but the call of home was too strong to resist. Today he lives in the North-East Upper Beaches. (What? It's a thing!)
